Force Commentary Sheet

Reporting Period: 1 April 2014 – 31 March 2015

Police Force: Sussex Police

Commentary:

Sussex Police is shown to have the highest number of days to finalise an allegation by local investigation. Research has been undertaken to ascertain why this is the case and it has been identified that this is in fact down to an input error and is not actually reflective of our true figures. The fault has now been rectified and our figures have been amended in Force which shows that our average number of days is actually 134 and not 323 as published. Now the reason for the variance has been rectified future publications of our figures will accurately reflect our position.
